

Abstract

The invention relates to a process and a device for the winding of nets (1) knitted from 5 thrums (2) and wefts (3) to a given winding width at a winding point. For this the thrums
(2) of the knitted net are guided along spacer elements (5, 9, 14) ahead of the winding point.

(Figure 1)